

Are we listening?

Good morning everyone, its been a great week with our focus on God and not everything else that will distract us.

Today, I want to ask the question, “Are you listening to God?” Most of us want to hear the voice of God when he speaks, but most of us are not ready to respond to what he asks us to do. As we move into a new year, I think it’s important that we ask God what He thinks and then we need to make the decision to do what he asks. Whatever that is!

Have a Great Sunday!
